

Location of Fire Hydrants;

1. The provisions of Ordinance 08-21 shall apply only to new building construction of one thousand (1000) square feet or more of assembly, business, educational, factory, high hazard, industrial, institutional, mercantile, residential (includes mobile home park occupancies), storage or miscellaneous use.
2. Exclusions; The Ordinance shall not apply to single family residential construction unless it is part of a new subdivision development consisting of three or more structures on two or more lots. New building construction on lots of existing subdivisions approved prior to the enactment of this Ordinance (08-05-08) is specifically excluded from the requirements. New construction structures, alterations or additions for the purpose of an "Agricultural Use" as defined by KRS 100.111(2), including provision for dwelling for persons and their families who are engage in the agricultural use on the tract, is specifically excluded from the requirements of the ordinance. Structures, alterations, or additions erected prior to the enactment of the ordinance are specifically excluded from the requirements.